USES, ACTIONS AND EVIDENCE

INDICATIONS: Indications for the use of this remedy include: The development of cancers and the progression of existing cancers. These are indications only and not claims.

AMYGDALIN (VITAMIN B17): This is a compound that has been used as an anticancer treatment in humans worldwide. It is not approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in the United States. The term “laetrile” is an acronym (laevorotatory and mandelonitrile) used to describe a purified form of the chemical amygdalin. Amygdalin is a plant compound that contains sugar and produces cyanide. Amygdalin is found in the pits of many fruits and raw nuts. It is also found in other plants, such as lima beans, clover, and sorghum. Cyanide is believed to be the active cancer-killing ingredient in laetrile. Although the names laetrile, Laetrile®, and amygdalin are often used interchangeably, they are not the same product. The chemical make-up of Laetrile® patented in the United States is different from the laetrile/amygdalin produced in Mexico. The patented Laetrile® is a semi-synthetic form of amygdalin, while the laetrile/amygdalin manufactured in Mexico is made from crushed apricot kernels.

CURCUMIN: Curcumin (diferuloyl methane), the yellow pigment in turmeric (Curcuma Longa), is a potent herbal preventive agent that inhibits proliferation of cancer cells by arresting them at various phases of the cell cycle depending upon the cell type. Curcumin-induced apoptosis mainly involves the mitochondria-mediated pathway in various cancer cells of different tissues of origin. Several factors including pharmacological safety, scope for improvement of structure and function of curcumin and its ability to attack multiple targets are in favour of curcumin being developed as a drug for prevention and therapy of various cancers.

ASTRAGALUS: The immuno-potentiating effect of the roots of Astragalus Membranaceus, a traditional Chinese medicinal herb, has been associated with its polysaccharide fractions (plant sugars). These compounds are known to enhance immune cell communications thus enabling the body to better defend itself against disease. Astragalus extract has profound effects in enhancing human immuno-function and anti-tumour activity. It can be applied in clinical practice for immuno-modulation and tumour treatment according to current available research.
